

Jeff Lin is currently a biologist/planner with the USACE Wilmington District, which he joined in November, 2009. Prior to that time he was a research biologist for 8 years with the ERDC Environmental Laboratory, Wetlands and Coastal Ecology Branch, where his primary interests were in wetland functional assessment and developing GIS applications for use in ecosystem restoration projects. He is a 2009 graduate of the Corps' Planning Associates program, and holds a M.E.M in Wetlands Ecology and Management from Duke University and a B.A. in Neuroscience from Pomona College.